MEDEC Calorie-Fit attracts new European investor.

24 OCTOBER 2005 - Perth based health care equipment company MEDEC Ltd (MAA) is currently completing its first production of the MEDEC Calorie-Fit system to meet the rising demand for the product.

The Calorie-Fit measures the metabolic rate of people using a technology called indirect calorimetry. This technique provides an objective assessment before providing individual dietary advice. Overweight and obesity are often referred to as metabolism disorders and the Calorie-Fit allows health practitioners to accurately monitor resting and exercise metabolism.

High interest in the MEDEC Calorie-Fit at recent European seminars, conventions and exhibitions has been shown from a large cross section of the community, including government health and education authorities who wish to monitor overweight schoolchildren. The Calorie-Fit system has also attracted significant interest from the diet and weight consultancy industry, the fitness and wellness industry and from conventional medicine.

MEDEC has recently signed a Heads of Agreement with Liechtenstein based Trade and Finance Consultancy, headed by Dr. Joseph Madol, which provides exclusivity to develop the sales and marketing infrastructure for the Calorie-Fit system within the European Union markets, with the exception of the United Kingdom and Eire.

“We expect to have the infrastructure phase, currently underway, completed by the end of November 2005,” says Mr. Dermot Patterson, Chief Executive Officer of MEDEC Ltd. “So that delivery to customers of the Calorie-Fit can commence during the first quarter of 2006”.

“The MEDEC Calorie-Fit system will help to address a growing market demand“ says Mr. Patterson. “This science based measuring device will greatly aid in the fight to overcome overweight and obesity that has grown to epidemic proportions in all developed countries. Our co-operation with Dr. Madol provides us with both the finances and the opportunity to meet the increasing demand for this technology.”
